

Bring on the Dance

Living Arts Collective creates an inclusive space for individuals to move freely and express themselves creatively. Through our Embodied Movement workshops, participants experience the euphoria of music, rhythm, and connection with themselves, others, and their environment.

Music, Movement, & Connection

Embodied movement is a type of mindful movement. Our workshops guide participants in connecting their movements with curated music and their internal source of creativity.

We help make space for creativity and play through conscious movement, aligning mind, body, and spirit.

Inclusion

Embodied Movement workshops are inclusive of all ages, physical bodies, cultural backgrounds, identities, and dance abilities. We strive to create a space that is welcoming to all.

Building Community

Research has shown that dancing in groups helps to build social cohesion and trust among participants, it helps to relieve stress and boost self-confidence, helping to build stronger unity within groups.
